Application No. 10/015,601

Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: Applicants arguments are not persuasive. The fact that neither of the two references alone does not teach the instant invention is correct, but the combination was made to show that all limitations in the calims are known in the art. The references must be taken together and not argued seperately. The claims stand rejected as in the final action mailed on January 13, 2006..
